Q1: Do you travel?

- I drive 9 hours home from college
- Yes
- Yes.
- Yes
- Yes sometimes

Q2: How often do you travel?

- Out of state I travel very little, but in state I travel fairly often
- 3-5 times per year
- every like 3 months.
- Every 2 yrs
- couple times a year

Q5: Does the application look well-organized? Why or Why not?

- Very well organized, but the search bar takes a second to find
- It looks like that it can provide much and rich information, but it might be not too easy for users to use, and it might keep users for the future using if the experience is not good. A good UI should be simple and straightforward but with rich information. I think it needs users to set up too much filter once. There should have priority among each filter setting.
- Yes its organized but maybe have the frames of waynaut and yelp side by side.
- yes although maybe section headings would make the purpose of the section more clear
- For the most part. The places to put in origin and destination cities is small and in the corner. Other than that it looks good

Q6: What is your expectation of this application?

- That if I were to be traveling to Europe I could find both plane ticket prices and bars near the location I'm traveling
- I think maybe priority setting of the filter to ease the outlook of the UI. Like app these days people usually like the simple and easy app rather than complicated one.
- To help find flights to your destination and events in that city.
- Find hotels by price or quality, find popular events and restaurants in the area
- I expect it to give me the cheapest way to get to my destination and some things to do once I get there

Q7: Do you believe this application's function would be helpful while traveling? Why or Why not?

- As a college student who enjoys bars I would find this application useful
- Sure since it combines the information from food and traveling.
- Yes. To find cheap flights and to find events in that city.
- Find hotels by price or quality, find popular events and restaurants in the area

- Yes, finding the transportation to a location is stressful so hopefully this application would make it easier.

Q8: Would you recommend this application to your family/friend?

- Friends yes maybe not my grandma
- Yes.
- Yes, once it works.
- Yes
- Yes, if it works correctly

Q9: Does this application meet your expectation?

- Yes
- Mostly.
- Yes.
- Yes
- Yes. It does what it promises

Q10: Is there anything you would like to be added to this application?

- No
- Map or suggestion interesting place for visitor
- to rent cars? that would be cool.
- labels on input boxes
- nothing I can think of
